landscape of alcoholic hepatitis. Alcoholic hepatitis (AH) was first described in 1930 as a distinct entity from other forms of chronic liver disease. It is a serious condition, often requiring early consideration of liver transplantation. In patients with severe AH, inpatient mortality has been reported to be as high as 80%. Despite advances in the understanding of the pathophysiology and treatment of AH, mortality and morbidity remain high. Improved understanding of the pathogenesis of AH, together with advances in the management of patients with severe AH, has resulted in a decline in inpatient mortality and an increasing number of patients with AH surviving to discharge. In view of the changing clinical landscape, we review the current knowledge of the pathophysiology and management of this

Sometimes, when we really want to connect with the power of our God, it feels like we need to make a giant effort. For example, if you are frustrated with the fruitless life that you have created, but you want to grow in love and make a difference in the world, it may feel like you have to do a very big and complicated work. Instead, here is the beauty and the simplicity. It is found in the fruit of our efforts. Does that sounds fair? It is. We all have been there. We have all felt frustrated and lost and just like you, I too felt like I had to create a complicated plan, make a lot of effort to get this next step going. But, as time passed, things have never been the same again. I have never been able to get into the same routine again. Because instead of thinking “I have to make an effort”, I have been thinking “I want to make an effort.” And guess what? It has never failed me again! Every time I have decided to do an extra bit of work, I always end up in a new path. My personal experience of growth has shown me that what really matters is: what are your fruit? The fruit of your life is what you see when you look back at the end of the day. You may not see it at the time, but everything leads up to it. You may not see it when you are in the process, but you will see it when you are back to your life. So stop thinking about how complicated it is to grow. The beauty of life is that it is always in process. And with that, the process you are in is the process that you need to grow. So, I want to remind you that God is the one who gives us everything. It is not something that we have to get, it is something that God gives. So even 2d92ce491b
