Dr. Dolittle 3 (2019) Plot Summary
The film begins with Dr. Dolittle (Rex Harrison) standing in the jungle, feeding on ripe fruit. He reaches into a large bowl and then speaks to the animals, telling them about how many people are starving and making them feel guilty when they are not, and encouraging them to consume more fruit. Dr. Dolittle is suddenly interrupted by a rich woman named Maya (Kyla Pratt) whose son is starving to death. She is upset that the local zoo failed to find him a heart and asks if he can get one for him, but he is reluctant to do so, especially since he has a lot of work to do. Maya reluctantly leaves but soon returns with her boyfriend and her family who are all trying to make up to Dr. Dolittle for his kindness. One of Maya's friends suggests that Dr. Dolittle, who has become a celebrity by feeding the animals, is being exploited. Maya admits that while she loves her son, she believes that no good can come out of him, as he is incapable of communicating. Maya asks Dr. Dolittle if he can talk to her son and he agrees to attempt it. When he goes into the boy's room, he finds that the son is capable of a form of language. He talks to the boy and manages to calm him, at which point the boy's heart begins to show its desire to pump blood. Dr. Dolittle leaves the room to complete his research on a drug that can cure this problem, and Maya goes to tell her husband of the change in her son. However, Maya's mother-in-law shows up and asks for a glass of water. Dr. Dolittle tells her that the boy's heart has begun to function normally and she faints. Dr. Dolittle comes back and tells Maya that her son's heart has stopped functioning and that his life is now in the hands of Maya's husband. Dr. Dolittle tells Maya that he will help her son. Dr. Dolittle and Maya's husband return to the room and the husband collapses. Dr. Dolittle succeeds in putting the husband's heart back into the boy's body. Maya's mother-in-law comes back and tells Maya that her husband is dead. Maya is devastated and nearly kills herself by taking a car full of drugs. The film now changes to 2d92ce491b
