If Frodo does not keep this ring safe, Sauron will have the power to take over Middle-earth, but Frodo can also keep the ring from her and keep the wizard from taking over Middle-earth. Plot The tale begins with the tale of two hobbits, Bilbo and Frodo Baggins, who have met at Rivendell, the Elven camp in the far North. They are traveling down to the Shire, the home of the Shire-wise men, to get a loan from Mr. Bilbo Baggins, so that they can return to their homes in the South. Along the way they find an enormous ring, which Bilbo believes is from his uncle, who fought in the Battle of Five Armies. Bilbo asks Frodo if he wants the ring, but Frodo refuses it. Bilbo calls on Gandalf the Wizard, who sees the ring in Bilbo's possession and says that it is important that Frodo keeps the ring. Frodo agrees to keep the ring safe. Meanwhile, Sauron is plotting to conquer Middle-earth. Gandalf warns Frodo that Sauron will soon try to take over Middle-earth with the help of Gollum, who will use his minions to attack Bilbo and Frodo. However, Frodo finds a way to keep the ring safe.

When the attack on Bilbo and Frodo, they are captured by Sauron and his minions, but Gandalf arrives and releases Bilbo and Frodo from the troop. Gandalf travels to Rivendell, but his minions capture Gandalf and a messenger from Rivendell, Legolas, and Gimli. Legolas is sent out to capture all the rings in Middle-earth. Gandalf sends his minions to capture the rings, but they are all stopped by Gandalf and Frodo. In the South, Bilbo is attacked by Sauron and his minions, but is saved by Gandalf. When Frodo is attacked by Sauron, he is rescued by Gandalf and Legolas. The attempt to capture Frodo also fails, and the band arrive at the Shire to help Bilbo and Frodo. Gandalf and the friends arrive to aid the friends in the Shire. Sauron is defeated by the heroes and is forced to flee from the Shire. Gandalf travels to Rivendell and is escorted by Legolas. At Rivendell, Gandalf is sent to attack the rings, but they are
