Is there a way in Android Studio to enter the date in the EditText field by pressing a button? I want to enter a current date automatically to my EditText field. I thought about a Button with an OnClickListener, but I did not find the right way to get the current date. A: Try using : Calendar calendar = Calendar.getInstance(); calendar.set(Calendar.DATE, today); calendar.set(Calendar.HOUR_OF_DAY, 0); calendar.set(Calendar.MINUTE, 0); calendar.set(Calendar.SECOND, 0); Toast.makeText(activity, "Current date : "+calendar.getTime().toString(), Toast.LENGTH_SHORT).show(); See in this documentation. The team is responsive and very professional. I really appreciate the agile development and the fact that there's always someone on the call to help us if there is any query or doubts. Being honest, I have not seen a better web development team in India. While with their brilliant team you will not be able to distinguish whether you are working with professionals or youngsters, their professional skills coupled with their innovative ideas always help to deliver the best to their clients. As the company operates from India, they are not quite so accessible as other companies, which is a problem if you require immediate response. I can say that the team of experts at Yoostech always deliver the best of the best. The team is highly experienced and they have a strong presence of industry professionals with years of experience. The project management at Yoostech is also great, the team is very proactive and they are open to discuss things even if they are unsure about something.Flowering of a tropical leguminous plant Lathyrus leucocarpus is regulated by the metabolite content of the root. In this work, we show that the concentration of sucrose and α-galactosyl-l-arabinose are limiting for the flowering time of the leguminous plant Lathyrus leucocarpus. We also demonstrate that these metabolites are essential
