New Zealand's top boxer, Chris Beuvon, is likely to make his professional boxing debut on September 21, in a six-rounder in Auckland, New Zealand. The 23-year-old from Auckland has been in town in the lead up to his debut and has been staying with veteran trainer and former IBF Bantamweight World Champion Jason Bentley. Beuvon is no stranger to the ring. He was a fairly regular sparring partner to the two current WBC World Light Heavyweight Champions, Tyson Fury and WBA/WBO/IBO/IBF/WBO Light Heavyweight Champion Anthony Joshua when they were younger. Beuvon was also training with Shane Cameron who at the time was the reigning WBO Super Flyweight World Champion. Beuvon did have a fight on his record with another reigning WBO Super Flyweight World Champion, Kosei Tanaka. However, the fight never went to the cards and the fight was pulled from the card. The former New Zealand Amateur Champion and winner of the 2016 and 2017 New Zealand Amateur Champions has been the sparring partner of the likes of David Lemieux and Terry Flanagan, as well as some of New Zealand's best prospects. Beuvon's manager, Mardy Sargent is pleased with how the heavy sparring has gone and is expecting the good start to the career of his boxer. "Chris has been doing hard sparring with some of New Zealand's best prospects, and the feedback he has received from the sparring partners and his coaches has been positive. "We've had great sparring partners in Chris and there are a few of them in the Auckland boxing scene like Jason Bentley, Drago Baror, Craig McEwen and Terry Flanagan. "It's really good to see that Chris is receiving this early feedback from the sparring partners and we're looking forward to getting the final outcome of our sparring sessions and start his professional career," Beuvon's first professional bout has already been announced and he will be facing Filipino Martial Arts expert and former Boxing Champion, Genaro Mendoza. Beuvon will get the chance to show off his skills in the ring on a grander stage with a headline bout, with the event also featuring eight more professional boxing bouts on the night.`runscript` is a single commandline script that invokes other scripts. ```sh node./runscript.js
