Straight from Xbox's Canadian HQ, we have a fresh trailer for Uno Card Game. A party game that combines two of the best genres in gaming (party and card games) could only mean good things, and now we know better. Uno Card Game is out on May 26. Check out the trailer below: Uno Card Game Screenshots Uno Card Game Trailer - Introduction Of all the games I expected to put some elbow grease into when it comes to putting together my new suit of gaming pants, a fast-paced party game designed to combine two of the best genres in gaming (party and card games) would be at the top of my list. Fast-paced alone is fun, but when combined with some interesting graphics and a couple of friends, it's an entirely different story. Until now, I knew the name of Uno Card Game, but other than that, I knew nothing at all about it. Then I ran into Montreal's resident Xbox Canada staff, and the fire was lit under my ass. Wanting to know everything about this new Xbox 360 party game, I grabbed one of their staffers and set off to the IMAX theater at the Bell Centre in Quebec to get the full story. What I found out is that Uno Card Game is developed by Kameo Games (a small new British game developer), that this is their first original title, that they have been working on it for the past eight months, that it will be coming soon to Xbox Live Arcade, and that I didn't know a single thing about it before I walked in. Wow. Uno Card Game is essentially a multiplayer card game. Your goal is to get rid of the cards in the game pile by playing them, and when it comes time to make your move, your goal is to play as many cards as you can to fill up your score pile. But since cards are dealt, you have to keep your eyes and brain open when dealing cards. So don't go "deal, deal, deal, deal, deal" and start looking for the cards you need to play as soon as the go into the next player's pile. In other words, you want to get rid of as many cards as you can in a single turn, or else your game will be over in no time. Each player has a turn on a timer, but between turns you can get cards out and place them down to speed up the game. While

Q: How to write in bash script? I am trying to write a script in bash which is as follows: `awk -F"|" '{ if ($3 == X) { count++ } } count = count + 1; { if ($3 == X) { print $0 "-"count; count = 0; } }' "myfile" | awk '{ if ($1 != X) { x++; } if (x != 1) { print $1; x = 0 } if (x == 1) { print $1 "X"; x = 0 } }'` It takes two arguments: myfile (the name of a file) and X (the value of the X column). Basically, it is a truncatable counter. The problem is that I can't seem to be able to fix the syntax error. A: Since there is none of your code that actually has issues, it is difficult to comment on those... The only issue I see in your posted code is that the first awk command is not indented, which can confuse some parsers and make the script flow of control unclear. Below, I have adjusted your first awk command to include a correct indent, as well as fixed several syntax errors. `#!/bin/bash awk -F"|" '{ if ($3 == X) { count++; } } count = count + 1; { if ($1 != X) { x++; } if (x != 1) { print $1; x = 0 } if (x == 1) { print $1 "X"; x = 0 } }' "myfile" | awk '{ if ($1 != X) { x++; } if (x != 1) { print $1; x = 0 } }`
