Gentlemen, I am interested in meeting with you to explore the possibility of putting together a gas marketing group. We currently conduct a weekly gas balancing program for gas trading. As you know, we are expanding our services to include gas origination and marketing. I would like to introduce you to Steve Kleb, who is managing the daily gas balancing program. We would appreciate it if you could meet with us to discuss what you might be interested in. As I mentioned, we have responsibilities to our counterparties in the gas balancing group. It would be beneficial for you to meet with us, in order to start educating us on the products and services you offer. Please let me know if you are interested in setting up a meeting. Thank you for your time and attention to this matter. Regards, SteveQ:

Trying to copy a row from one sheet to another I am having trouble with an Excel VBA macro. I'm not good with VBA, but I'm trying to learn. I'm trying to copy a row from a sheet and paste it to another. I've tried searching for a solution, but I'm not coming up with anything. This is what I came up with (stuck on the line with the sheet's column) Sub CopyTo() Dim WSName As String Dim WSName1 As String Dim cell As Range WSName1 = "Sheet2" ' = Sheets("Sheet2").Range("N" & Sheets("Sheet1").Rows.Count).End(xlUp).Row Set cell = Range("N5") With Sheets(WSName1) cell.Copy Destination:=Range("N5") 'Wrap whole sheet in a loop Do Until cell = cell.End(xlToRight) Cells(cell.Row, "A").Insert Shift:=xlDown 'cell.Resize(, 3) cell = cell.Offset(1, 0) Loop End With End Sub A: Try this: Option Explicit Sub CopyTo() Dim WSName

You are here Louisiana Economy Under Severe Stress The public policy research arm of the National Association of State Budget Officers reported on Thursday that Louisiana's economy continues to suffer from "severe stress." State economists predict the unemployment rate will remain at about 8.9 percent through 2012. However, the most pressing crisis for Louisiana and its residents is a fiscal one: "For the past five years, Louisiana has ranked at the bottom, or among the worst performers, in the annual State Budget condition report, recently reported by the National Association of State Budget Officers," the report states. In the report, researchers note the state's $1.4 billion deficit is $1 billion higher than the national deficit. And the state is $1.2 billion short in cash flow, the report says. The budgeting watchdog also notes the debt to gross domestic product is at 47 percent, a level that has failed to recover since the national "financial crisis." That level isn't sustainable, the report warns. While Louisiana is facing a budget gap and the job losses that accompany it, Gov. Bobby Jindal is also facing criticism for having to cancel a Jan. 10 State of the State address. This week, the mysterious world of big pharma was rocked by the allegation of its biggest scandal to date. Allegations of drug companies working hand in hand with foreign governments to bypass drug approval processes. A slew of publications across the globe — including this one — accused the world's biggest drug companies, including GSK and Pfizer, of building a multibillion-dollar network of off-label drug sales in foreign countries. Drug companies are often accused of "price gouging" for their products. But that charge doesn't go to their sole purpose, which is to make money. In fact, the pharma industry makes for a tidy profit. When the "Big Three" drug companies — GlaxoSmithKline, Pfizer, and Merck & Co — combine their revenues for 2012, they totalled $232 billion. Of that, $16.4 billion was profit. That's $16.4 billion more than their total revenue that year. The three drug companies employ roughly 220,000 people around the world. The combined profit margin of the Big Three is 4.4 percent. An astonishing return on investment. Pharma also benefits from the drug approval process. The regulatory practices by
